Knowing The Answers

One of the fascinating things about life is the constant realization, among intelligent people, that few arguments and issues are ever black and white, and that few final conclusions or rules can be laid down in blanket fashion to cover a mass portion of the population on any major question.

In talking with others, if you will note their responses to the popular questions, you can usually determine the depth of their philosophy and the amount of wisdom they have acquired over the years. Those who always feel sure they have the answers are most often the ones who are actually bewildered and in need of further enlightenment.

Likewise, those who should make an effort to improve their minds, and add to their knowledge and education, are often the ones who are completely content never to read worth-while books, look over the news intelligently, or try to draw conclusions of their own.

Admittedly, we live in a complex world and it is hard to know who is telling the truth, who really knows the score, what to read and where to find it. A general approach which might be of value to readers is the opinion and attitude which is expressed by the news by devoting a few minutes each day to a newspaper, listening to several news commentators, with different political philosophies and read a stimulating book every month or two. Then weigh all the opinions and arguments, think for yourself, and make your own decisions.

On Facial Characteristics

An expert says boys and girls looking for mates should always take into consideration the facial characteristics of their prospective husband or wife. He gives some tips for both boys and girls.

For the boys, he says that it is generally safe to seek a woman with a broad forehead, eye brows close to her eyes, which should be preferably brown, a bony nose with a high bridge and a receding chin with a dimple in it.

For the girls, he says they should look for boys with thick hair, grey eyes, if possible, full, bushy eyebrows, sharp nose, a broad chin and a big mouth. These characteristics indicate commendable traits, usually, so the expert says, and one would do well to take them into consideration. Broad brows, for example, he says, belong to enthusiastic or optimistic people. Eyebrows close to the eyes usually belong to people with strong characters, it is said.

We don't guarantee results, but merely pass on this information to the reader. Personally, we have always liked blue eyes pretty well, and we know a few half-headed characters who, we think, are as high as the sky. We mention, too, that some of the ladies have their noses operated on, their eyebrows lifted and other facial characteristics changed, thus changing up on the food of the eyes. We mention, too, that some of the ladies have their noses operated on, their eyebrows lifted and other facial characteristics changed, thus changing up on the food of the eyes.

Food And Your Body-Machine

It is a good idea, once in a while, to emphasize the machine-like qualities of the human body. We should not forget that food is the fuel that operates the physical engine upon which life itself depends.

Eating is not only a prime function of existence, but it is also one of the most important. Every individual, and particularly our young people, should be thoroughly informed as to the principles of diet and the peculiar values of various foods. Inasmuch as the meals of the average American family are under the control of the wife and mother, it is the duty of these home-makers to study and understand the proper preparation of food, its specific properties and the value and necessity of variety in the daily diet.

We are not suggesting that the individual become a food fanatic, or that our readers take up any of the various fads that afflict the public. We do advise every woman, who is supervising the feeding of human beings, to study food, diets, calories, vitamins, and the other data now available in regard to foods. The more wide-spread such information becomes, the better will be the health and bodily growth of the people in Bulloch County.

There are millions of people in the United States who pay more attention to the feeding of their children than they do to the food that they themselves eat. Some of them reside in this county. For one reason or another, including lack of information and lack of money, their children grow up undernourished and ill-fed, their bodies and general health are impaired, and they are particularly susceptible to disease. If they escape death, their bodies and general health will present living testimony in years to come of the ignorance of their parents in regard to food.

Every family diet should include milk, meat, eggs, fruits, and vegetables. Every housewife who reads this article should check up on the food served to her family during the past week. Was it sound from a health standpoint, taking into consideration the needs of the various members of the family?

Today's Meditation

From The World's Most Widely Used Devotional Guide

THURSDAY, AUGUST 20

Read Psalm 41

Blessed are the merciful: for they shall obtain mercy. (Matthew 5:7)

The word beautiful means "pleasing." It has a higher content of meaning than either happiness or well-being. Thomas Carlyle once said, "If you find blessedness, you can dispense with happiness."

In regard to this beautiful mercy, we are to take divine mercy as our pattern. God's mercy is no more sentiment. His mercy is based on his fatherhood. In mercy, He sent Christ into the world. The whole story of God's mercy is so beautifully expressed in John 3:16: "For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life."

This mercy of God to us must reflect to our fellow men. Mercy is the quality that prompts us to affection for persons and service to them. It brings about in its train healing for ourselves. "Blessed are the merciful for they shall obtain mercy." Through mercy given to others, we ourselves receive mercy from God.

PRAYER

Blessed Father, give to each of us the spirit of mercy. We thank Thee for Thy mercy to us in the giving of Christ, our Lord and Savior, to suffer on the cross for us and to assure our salvation. As we remember Him, lead us to show mercy to others. In the blessed Redeemer's name. Amen.

THOUGHT FOR THE DAY

"We do pray for mercy and the same prayer doth teach us all to render the deeds of mercy." H. D. Rains (Ontario)

ONE THING AND ANOTHER

GETTING SHOD

I walk into a shoe store in my best gloves and shoes feeling like Miss Astor. Then I see myself in the normal position for having new shoes fitted. Then something happens. The moment the Duke of Kent, or whatever his title, takes my shoe off and peers into the inside to see how I was misfitted last time, I begin to shrivel.

Those shoes, looking perfectly respectable five minutes before I was suddenly changed into something even Cinderella wouldn't wear after midnight.

The new ones, even the Old Maid Truettlers, look good when placed alongside my original entry pair.

One item connected with this usually shopping leaves me puzzled. Where does the man go to get the shoes? He is gone so long I begin to conjure up mental pictures of an underground passage lined with shoe boxes. This imaginary passage looks like the cat-result: "All things work out for good to them that love the Lord," the sorrowful feels.

Wholesome words said to a young person. Result: I shall choose the high way and shun the low. I make my choice now.

Encouraging words spoken to a soul downcast and ready to give up. Result: Hope is born, and the will to try again. Back, back to the right way.

Words to the lonely and the timid and to the thoughtless! Loving words that begot love. Beautiful words—"sweet to the soul, and health to the bones."

They contain no bitterness, no sarcasm, no pin-pricks, no evil intent. They are "apples of gold in pictures of silver"—being fully spoken.

"The word spoken by you has perished not; In other hearts 'tis living still. And doing work for good or ill. In Proverbs 16:24, Solomon is not talking about idle words of flattery. "Pleasant words are as a honey comb, sweet to the soul, and health to the bones."

A woman, whose girlhood has been these twenty years, said, when recalling her life in Statesboro: "She, a neighbor, could always say the meanest things, and could make a girl feel so awful. I remember hateful remarks she used to make to me."

Yes, we are all remembered by the words we speak. Many of us remember a dear old lady who would say to any woman she saw: "I vow, honey, you look so pretty today." One would feel like being worked over by being so complimented, although she was just being nice, and we knew her habit.

A son said his mother a great compliment when he said: "My mother is a great moral builder."

HEALTH TO THE BONES

There are three things that come not back: the spent arrow, the spoken word, the lost opportunity. You may find the arrow in an oak, or it may be lost forever; the lost opportunity has been picked up by somebody else, since you were too dense to grasp it; but—

RIMES-HAGINS VOWS
In a wedding marked with reverence and beauty, Miss Penny Rimes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Hines, Jr., and George H. Hines, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hines, Jr., Sunday, August 10th, at four o'clock in the Statesboro Primitive Baptist Church, Elder T. R. Scott officiated before an assemblage of relatives and close friends.

Wedding music was presented by Miss Irene Groover at the organ, who accompanied Hat Waters, soloist, who sang, "I Love Thee" and at the conclusion of the ceremony, "The Lord's Prayer" as a benediction.

Stately palms formed the background for the impressive double ring ceremony. Complicated nuptial scene were three tall standards of white gladioli and white chrysanthemums, interspersed with spiral candelabra. The lovely blonde bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a wedding gown of white silk, organza over net and satin, featuring high neckline and short sleeves, back very full with long train. Laid embroidery covered the front of the bodice and encircled the wide hem of the skirt. Her two tiered shoulder-length veil of imported illusion fell from a bandeau of sequins with side scrolls. She carried a satin covered bible topped with a white orchid.

Miss Rose Franklin was maid of honor and only attendant. She wore a spring white silk organza, ruffled with deeper tone of satin. Her hair was styled in a butterfly bow in back. Her half veil, a shawl of iridescent sequins in violet tones. Shoes dined to match. Her crescent bouquet was lavender asters with showers of matching satin ribbon.

The groom's father, George Carroll Hines, Jr., served as his best man. Ushers were Ralph Turner, Jerry Hagins, brother of the groom, Mike Womack and Marvin Hines, cousin of the bride. The bride's mother, Mrs. George Hines, Jr., was seated at the head of the table. The groom's mother, Mrs. George Hines, Jr., was seated at the head of the table.

After the wedding, the bride and groom were entertained at a reception at the home of Mrs. George Hines, Jr. The reception was very elegant and the bride and groom were the center of attention. The reception was very elegant and the bride and groom were the center of attention.

(By Roy Powell, County Agent)

For time breeding sheep is here. And a sure way to cut down your profits is to not have all your ewes drop lambs. You can do an excels job of taking care of your lambs, but if not enough are born you can't realize maximum profits.

For a top-notch sheep breeding program follow these suggestions:

- 1—Keep plenty of high quality vigorous rams—one ram to twenty-five ewes is recommended. Many good rams are still available in the state.
- 2—Make sure ewes are in gaining condition.
- 3—Wash all lambs that are three months old.
- 4—Shear rams the second time if at all possible. Shearing the rams helps prevent sterility and mortality.
- 5—Rotate flock from pasture to pasture every two weeks and do not go back on the first pasture for more than thirty days.
- 6—Mixing of one part powdered phenothaline and nine parts loose salt available for sheep at all times in weather-proof bins, located near the source of water. This will not rid your sheep of parasites but will aid in keeping the number of parasites down.
- 7—Watch closely for symptoms of foot rot and wool maggots. If symptoms appear start treatment immediately.
- 8—Some sheep men are getting good results by breeding only at night or by rotating rams every week. However, if this is practiced, a cool place should be provided for the rams when not with the ewes. Also some oats or good pasture should be provided.

NEW OAT VARIETIES

Plant breeders have an endless task in developing new varieties and hybrids that will out perform those now in existence. Since new races and strains of diseases develop, a variety that is disease resistant today may be not so tomorrow, and when they become susceptible the plant breeder must have a new one to take its place.

Varieties Radar—1 and Radar —2 were developed jointly by the Coastal Plain Experiment Station, Tifton, Ga., and the Crops Research Division, U.S.D.A. They are dual purpose pasture and grain varieties. Yields of forage and grain are good. Heading occurs a week to ten days earlier than in Civitigrain 48-93. They are resistant to most known diseases and are recommended for the Coastal Plain section of Georgia.
